Economic Outlook

Overview

Based on the most recent data available, the Department of Business, Economic Development & Tourism (DBEDT) expects positive growth of Hawaii’s most economic variables in 2010, especially visitor related economic indicators. Although total wage and salary jobs are expected to decline slightly in 2010, the decrease is expected to be much less compared with the significant decrease suffered in 2009. Hawaii’s economy is expected to see modest growth in 2011 and 2012.

Labor Force and Jobs

For the first three quarters of 2010, civilian employment averaged 594,183 persons, a decrease of 2,017 persons or 0.3% compared to the same period of 2009. The civilian labor force averaged 636,470, a decrease of 3,450 persons or 0.5%. For the first nine months of 2010, the statewide unemployment rate averaged 6.6%, a decrease of 0.2 of a percentage point from the same period last year.

During the first three quarters of 2010, Hawaii’s economy lost 0.6% or 3,900 wage and salary jobs compared to the same period of 2009. Job loss in the first three quarters of 2010 was due to reduced jobs in both the private and government sectors. For the first three quarters of 2010, job loss in the private sector was the largest in Professional and Business Services (lost 3,017 jobs or 4.2%); followed by Natural Resources, Mining and Construction (lost 2,167 jobs or 6.8%), and Information (lost 550 jobs or 6.0%). Job gain in the private sector was the largest in Educational Services (added 1,033 jobs or 7.1%), followed by Health Care and Social Assistance (added 1,000 jobs or 1.7%), Food Services & Drinking Places (added 967 jobs or 1.7%), and Retail Trade (added 933 jobs or 1.4%). For the first three quarters of 2010, the government lost 1,317 jobs or 1.0%. The 1,783 additional jobs added by the Federal Government were more than offset by the losses of 3,000 jobs and 100 jobs by the State Government and Local Government, respectively.

Tax Revenues

Through the first three quarters of 2010, State General Fund Tax revenues increased $203.5 million or 6.7%; General Excise and Use Tax (GET) collections increased $53.9 million or 3.1%; Individual Income Tax collections increased $68.6 million or 7.4%; and Transient Accommodations Tax (TAT) collections increased $29.1 million or 18.7% compared with the same period last year.

Nominal personal income (not adjusted for inflation) increased $838 million or 1.5% in the first two quarters of 2010 compared to the same period of 2009. Wage and salary disbursements, which accounting for about 54% of personal income, decreased $151 million or 0.5% during the first half of 2010.

Supplements to Wages and Salaries (consisting of employer payments to retirement plans, private group health insurance plans, private workers compensation plans, and other such benefits) increased by $193 million or 2.2% in the first half of 2010 compared to the same period of 2009.

In the first half of 2010, total government earnings decreased only slightly. The $333.0 million or 3.8% increase in Federal Government earnings was more than offset by the $344.5 million or 6.1% decrease in State and Local Government earnings.

Prices

In the first half of 2010, Honolulu’s Consumer Price Index- All Urban Consumers (CPI-U) increased 2.5 percent from the same period last year, higher than the U.S. average CPI-U increase of 2.1 percent for the same period. The Honolulu CPI-U increase in the first half of 2010 was primarily due to relatively large increase in Transportation price (11.5 percent), Other Goods and Services (4.7 percent), and Education and Communication (4.1 percent). The price index for housing increased only 0.9 percent, while prices of Food and Beverages and Medical Care decreased slightly in the first half of 2010 compared to the first half of 2009.

Tourism

In the first three quarters of 2010, total visitor arrivals by air increased 354,624 or 7.3 percent from that of 2009, while 2010 year-to-date (YTD) average daily census increased 12,686 or 7.6 percent from 2009. Domestic arrivals were up 5.1%, and international arrivals were up 13.4%. Among the major market areas (MMAs), arrivals from U.S. West, U.S. East, Japan, Canada, and All Others were up 6.3%, 2.6%, 5.5%, 12.2%, and 24.6%, respectively. During the first nine months of 2010, the total value of private building authorizations decreased $26.6 million or 1.7%; however, the government

During the first three quarters of 2010, construction jobs decreased 6.8% or 2,150 jobs from the same period of 2009.

County Economic Conditions

Through the first three quarters of 2010, the average unemployment rate decreased in all counties, except the Hawaii County compared to the same period last year. In Honolulu, both labor force and civilian employment increased, but employment increased more than the increase in labor force; therefore unemployment rate decreased from 5.8% to 5.6%. In Maui and Kauai, both labor force and civilian employment decreased, but labor force decreased more than the decrease in employment; therefore, the unemployment rate in Maui decreased from 8.6% to 8.4 percent, and the unemployment rate in Kauai decreased from 9.5% to 8.9%. In Hawaii County, however, since the labor force decreased less than the decrease in employment, the unemployment rate in Hawaii County increased from 9.7% to 9.9 percent.

Visitor arrivals and visitor days by air both increased substantially in the first three quarters of 2010 in all counties compared to the same period of 2009. Visitor arrivals increased the most in Maui (8.5%), followed by Honolulu (6.5%), Hawaii County (4.6%), and Kauai (2.6%). Total visitor days by air also increased the most in Maui (9.0%), followed by Honolulu (8.3%), Hawaii County (5.8%), and Kauai (4.0%).

All counties showed negative job growth during the first nine months of 2010. Honolulu only lost 50 wage and salary jobs from the same period of 2009. Net job loss in Honolulu was due to job losses in the government sector. In the first three quarters of 2010, the State Government lost 2,650 jobs, more than offset the 1,450 jobs gained in the Federal Government. Total private sector jobs increased in the first three quarters of 2010 compared to the same period last year. The largest job gain in the private sector was in Retail Trade (gained 1,350 jobs), followed by Educational Services (added 1,150 jobs), Food Services & Drinking Places (added 950 jobs), Health Care & Social Assistance (added 850 jobs), and Accommodation (added 800 jobs). Hawaii County lost 1,650 jobs or 2.6% in the first three quarters of 2010 over the same period of 2009. Total Job loss was due to job losses in both private and government sector. In the government sector, job gain in the Federal Government was more than offset by the job losses in the State Government and Local Government. In the private sector, Construction lost the most jobs (lost 600 jobs) in the first three quarters of 2010, followed by Retail Trade (lost 200 jobs), Accommodation (lost 150 jobs), and Professional and Business Services (lost 150 jobs). The only private sector which showed positive job growth was Health Care & Social Assistance (added 100 jobs).

In the first nine months of 2010, Maui County lost 1,600 jobs or 2.4% from that of 2009. Jobs in the Government sector remained about the same, and most of the job losses were from the private sectors. The largest private sector job decrease occurred in Construction (lost 800 jobs), followed by Professional and Business Services (lost 350 jobs), Arts, Entertainment & Recreation (lost 250 jobs), Accommodation (lost 150 jobs), and Retail Trade (lost 150 jobs).

The value of private building permits increased $119.4 million Honolulu, and $34.6 million in Hawaii County.

Outlook for the Economy

The outlook for Hawaii’s economy depends significantly on conditions in the U.S. economy and key international economies, especially Japan. For the U.S. economy, slightly worse-than-expected economic data in recent months have resulted in more conservative expectations being reflected in the consensus forecast used to guide the DBEDT forecast. According to the November 2010 Blue Chip Economic Consensus Forecasts, U.S. real GDP is expected to increase by 2.7% in 2010 as a whole. U.S. real GDP growth is now expected to increase at an annual rate of 2.4% in the fourth quarter of 2010. For 2011 the consensus forecast now expects an overall 2.5% growth in U.S. real GDP. These growth rates are lower than those released in August 2010. Similarly, forecasts for Hawaii’s most important foreign market, Japan, were also more conservative in the November 2010 Blue Chip Economic Consensus Forecasts. Real GDP growth for Japan is now expected to increase 2.9% in 2010, followed by a modest 1.2% growth rate in 2011.

Contrary to the expectations on the U.S. economy, the revised forecast for Hawaii shows more encouraging expectations, although the basic projection of a slow and gradual recovery has not changed.

Overall, Hawaii’s economy measured by real GDP is projected to show a 1.4% increase in 2010. That growth is expected to increase modestly to 1.8% in 2011.

Visitor arrivals are now expected to increase 7.7% in 2010. Visitor days are now expected to increase 8.2% in 2010. Moreover, the forecast for visitor expenditure growth in 2010 has been revised upward to 14.8%. For 2011, the growth rates of visitor arrivals, visitor days, and visitor expenditures are now expected to be 4.1%, 4.1%, and 8.4%, respectively.

Total wage and salary job in 2010 is expected to decrease 0.4%. Most of this decline has occurred in the first half of the year. In the third quarter of 2010, jobs increased 0.5 percent from the same quarter last year. Job growth is expected to be positive in the fourth quarter of 2010. In 2011, jobs are projected to increase a modest 1.1%.

The Honolulu Consumer Price Index (CPI), which increased 0.5% in 2009, is expected to increase 2.2% in 2010. In 2011, the CPI is also projected to increase 2.2%.

Personal income growth in current dollars is now projected to show an increase of 2.7% in 2010. The current forecast of real personal income growth in 2010 is 0.5%. In 2011, current-dollar personal income is forecast to increase 3.2%, which will be 1.0% in real terms.

Beyond 2011 the gradual recovery is expected to continue with modest job growth of around 1.2% for 2012. Visitor arrivals are expected to increase 3.5% in 2012. Hawaii’s real GDP growth in 2012 is expected to reach 1.9%. The gradual recovery should continue into 2013, assuming national and international economic conditions continue to improve.
